Prof. Dr. Wolfgang Feist

Practical solutions based on solid physics have always been the focus of Prof. Feist's work. With the founding of the Passive House Institute in 1996, he created an independent research institution that aids tradespeople, architects, engineers and component manufacturers in the development of highly energy efficient buildings and components.

Feist, a professor of building physics at the University of Innsbruck for over 10 years, is the recipient of many awards including the German Environmental Award, International Environmental Prize of the City of Gothenburg and an Honorary Fellowship by the Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA).
